AutoAds

See all job openings

Lead Software Developer

- Athens, Attiki, Greece
- November 02, 2013

Description

We are an established digital marketing company that is looking for an ambitious Lead Developer that will help us develop an advertising solution in the ad automation space.

You will be driving the product development and your responsiblities will be:

- Design and implement a robust and scalable software architecture
- Write beautiful code and maintain detailed documentation
- Manage and grow our junior developer

Requirements

You have:

- 3+ years of working experience
- Played an instrumental part in at least 1 large-scale release
- Experience building web applications, ideally in Python
- User-centered design focus

Bonus points if you have:

- Experience in online advertising or other B2B advertising related platform
- Direct management experience
- Knowledge of machine learning algorithms

Benefits

All the great perks of working on a startup (make something out of nothing, small team, no-politics, no dress code) while working at a fast-growing profitable company (competitive salary, job security).

On top of these:

- Your equipment of choice (eg a MacBook Air and a big monitor)
- Learning budget (books, courses, online services)
- Flexible hours

Our office is in Athens but we do not mind where you work from.

Apply for this job

| × |

Start a new job application

Name [   ] Email [   ]

| Get started |

Work fast. Fill in your application using your Linkedin profile.

in Apply with LinkedIn ®

Powered by workable