MBRIYO IS LOOKING FOR A WEB DEVELOPER
FOR THE WWW.GIAOLA.GR VENTURE

29/01/2014

We are a funded start-up company based in Athens. Our team has considerable experience in starting-up, and growing tech-based companies.

To date, we have developed a BETA version of our website in Python/Django and we are now looking to turn it into a fielded mobile application with iPhone/iPad .

We are seeking a competent Developer who has studied Computer Science at a reputable academic institution and, who is willing to dedicate himself to this project for the long-term and to see it grow and succeed.

Our development platform is Python/Django, but prior knowledge of it is not a strict requirement. Experience in mobile application development is highly welcome.

Interested?

Please send your CV by email to info@eeke.org , as follows:

i) Attach your CV in English or Greek.

ii) Include links to projects that we can verify you have contributed into.

iii) Name previous employers we can contact on your behalf.

We will contact promising candidates to schedule an on-location programming interview.

One last thing: You must be able to speak both Greek and English fluently.